

It seems so obvious to me, as a layperson, that limiting corporate ownership of media outlets is critically important. I've often wondered who "Clear Channel" is, and how they can be affiliated with seemingly every station in this city! Surely you are intelligent enough to realize that it's simply a bad idea to have centralized ownership and control of multiple media resources in a community???? What is your motivation????